Dear David,

As your mountain neighbor and long time friend, I have often wished that I had your steady, thoughtful way of getting things done, instead of my own style which Sam Nunn once described as one of "ready, fire, aim."

For years I have watched you use your rare gift of stability and tact in the courtroom, community and before committees at the State Capitol. And I have been envious of your skill at bringing people with differing views together.

Never has that rare talent been more needed at every level of the political spectrum as it is today.

I do not write this letter with any desire to get involved in today's political process. I've been there, done that and am thankful for the experience. I just wanted my old friend to know that I have always admired you ~~greatly~~.

greatest,
Jill Miller
